Difficult Situations in Behavioral Healthcare: The Art of Ethical Decision Making

About the Program:

The workshop is designed to address the variety of ethical dilemmas mental health professionals deal with on a daily basis and provide models for ethical decision making, including how professional ethical codes apply to practice. Utilizing didactic, large and small group discussions, participants will gain knowledge of decision making models and will apply the models to case vignettes that illustrate ethical issues. The workshop will highlight issues of informed consent, confidentiality, boundaries, competence, social media, supervision and continuing education, documentation, and diversity.
